The Outlook AT TACOMA.

The Streets Are / Imost Impassible, and a Light tote is I robable. The Streets Are I lmost Impassible, and a Li, ht vote is Ir Jushle.

Tarona Sept 40—Rains have been failing almost intersmult for the last twenty four hours, and thus a leed to the rain with B fell previously, has rei tered; a firect almost impassible. As a matter of fact in streets are not impassible. As a matter of fact in streets are clothy in a worse condition than at a 1 time last water.

Many of them are y time last water. Many of them are vely graded, and others have been turn up for some time by the street suring; comit any for the last water company and left in a min street in the dition. The right same of the main street of the dition of the sych ic 1 is main street of the dition. The right is any elder the morrow. The right is any elder the hapts opera have to night and this was better attended than could have been expected considering the driving rain. Stirring addresses were delivered by white 71 hompson and others and the whole rep blican theket was endorsed the mention of each candidate being received with outliness if appletus.

At the present time it looks as if North Jakima would receive the largest vote for the capital Na. Note for or against woman suffrage and prolite than in those questions this year.

Differing in Opinion.

Not even the hallowed in the need of this rainy Sabbath day can calm the fever heat of political conflict which rages over this fair land of Washington, and in this city of Tacoma As I write the discordant clanger of many chirch bells with gles will the noisy arguments of interested partisans assembled on the streets. Clargymen are making stirring appeals to the Deity, each in behalf of his own put measure and the queer part of it all is that they pray often for he uncess of exactly conflicting ideas. Women who have not yet learned the differ, to be between prohibition and liberty are loudly praving to Grd to banish the salcon and vomen who can do see in the difference between fasth and practice are questly working to secure their on a culcanch sement for sweet justice a sake.

GOVERNMENT SUBSIDIES TO STEAM-SHIP LINES. The increase of the trade of the United States with South America, Mexico and Australia will be the chief subject of considera-tion before the International American congress that reets at Washington within a few days. The history of the decline of our merchant marine and the vast increase England's trade and steam transportation will serve both to describe our disease and to point out the remedy. In 1840 the Canard Company so used a subsidy of £00,000 per annum from the British government for a annum from the British government for a monthly line between Liverpool, Hallfox monthly fine between the post of the said Boston, and this was increased in 1840 to 250,000 for the same monthly service. Our government then consented to subsidize the Collins line of American steamships from New York to Liverpool. The Cunard people at once hastened to England at d secured a contract for a line to New York, with an ann tal subsidy of £145,000. Cunard with an aim isl subsidy of £145,000. Chinard testified before the committee on contrast packet service, 1540; "I saw that the American government was giving encouragement to a mail line which would interfere very much with me, and equally with the government; depriving the government of half its postage and me of half my passengers. It I had got this contract three munths sooner, there would have been no American line." Now who kided this Collins line of American steamships from New York, which had been subsidized by our government to resist the determination of the British government to apture the North Atlantic carrying trade the mails for a greater compensation than sea and inland postage, nor for a longer time than two years; while the Cunard line, which had had its subsidy increased to £191,-400 per annum, was working under a nine years contract. This law accomplished its. intended purpose, the immediate destruc-tion of the Collins line. The Havre and Bre-men lines followed in course of one or two years, and thus an Important step towards the success of the impending rebellion was taken. The heavy expenditures of the British for mail nackets have been 'or government for that placets have been the special object of this using and this building. In 1833 the annual Cumard subsidy, had been increased to £173,340, or anticipation of a rebellion and with the postinge received by £61,612.

This Canard contract, which was to continue to £812 was extended for five years in

By Richard Cobden:

"A, Yes, £191,400."

*Q. 617. £820,660 is the amount which is now waid by this country and the colony for the truns Atlantic postage, including the Galway line." "Q. 618. And in the free of these increasing sub

The English government paid £320,000 as subsidies annually to the trans-Attantic Mail Service widlo we paid but $346,500, and this annal ashdy was with drawn on the de-mand of the South in 1858. The Cunard Line even to-day, nearly fifty years after its estab-Himment, receives a subsidy of $25,000 a pean con stry sending regular and fast. steamships to Australia, but to-day a French Australian steamship company, with a sub-sidy of £250 000, bassix magnificent steamers ich take to France £130,000 worth of Aus tralian produce eyery trip. The German government also has established a splendid line of steamers to Australia with a subsidy of £120,000 a year. England-to-day pays her Australian steamers £170,000 per annum. The British West India packets were estab-lished in 1841 at a cost of a subsidy of £240,000 per unnum, or £200,000 in excess of the pos-tage received. As late as 1883 the annual subsidy to this West India line was £80,500, and the amount of net receipts from postage was but $28,000.

In contrast with the magnificent subs dies extended by England since 1840, to her extended by England since 1840, to her steam transportation in its successful effort to clutch the trade of the world, is that of our government. E. P. North, in the North American Review for May, 1888, wrote: John Rosch, who established a direct line between this port and Rio, reducing the freight on coffee, according to official statistics, from 75 cents and $1 per bag to un average of 40 conts. was, for the and other crimes against the trade and commerce of Great Britain, driven into bankrupity and an unnecessarily early grave, with no recognition of his honesty. Postmaster General Viles, with an appropriation in hand, pullierat visa, with an appropriation in hand, "hill-fles the laws he had sworn to exceede, and dies for this and other-foreign mail service the pay with which Toombs and his co-conspirators an-ranged for the transfer of our commerce to Great Britain. Her gracious majesty has conferred the hone of a heighthood on many a man who has done far less for British interests.

We retain our skill as marine architects and sailors, and but for the passage of the law of 1858, which killed the Collins line, Mr. North believes we could have reduced commanded ream time increased the ocean freights at a faster rate than the increase of our ratroad freights, since we reduced our freight charges to between one-hulf and one-third of those in England, with a saving in freight money of £200,000,000, or $1,000,000,000 for the year 1884, on what we would have noted if our freight charges were as high as they are We huld the best and cheapest locomo;

It is scarcely worth while to waste energy in the discussion of this question at so late a day.

At the recent congress of British trade unions, held lately at Dundee, the question of a compulsory eight-hours! labor day was discussed and finally the whole subject was shelved by a vote of seventy-five members: of the congress against lorty-nine. A ROSEBUD'S LOVER IN JAIL. Geo. W. Anderson Arrested at Stattle For Forger es Committed Hero.

He Has Been Fellowing the City Birectory Com-pany About the Country-Two Men Taken in With Bis Epurious Checks.

Chief of Police Parriel was apprised last night

Chief of Police Pairlai was apprised last night of the arrest at Scattle of Geo. W. Anderson, who is wanted in this city for forgery. He tried to cut a wide swath in Portland, and his operations may land him in the peniteritary. Detective Griffin anys that Anderson has been following the City Directory troupe about the country, being enamored of Miss Sadie Kirby, one of the three "Rosebudy" in the company. Miss Kirby is a propossessing young women, and a clever actress.

Anderson began eperations in this city by drawing a sight draft for $100 on the Fourth National bank of St. Louis ard depositing it with the First National bank for collection. It was returned yesterday protested.

On Eaturday Anderson drew a check for $100 on the Ainsworth National bank and got the face value of it from A. Comstock, who keeps a livery stable on Eight street near Washington. When Comstock presented the check yesterday morning he found out that Anderson did not have a cent in the bank. Anderson skipped to Feattle Sunday night. He neglected to with the hill at the Holton house and in addition carried off considerable clothing belonging to a young man named Pennington.

Anderson is a yeing man and medium hight, spounds. He has the washed in England for extensive forgeries.

Aject the automaton chess and checker player is delighting hundreds and juzzling thousands. He is puzzling those who are cadgeling the interest of the boys he is anyway, whether he is more anism or just a plain everyday moral or what in his plashing he reems to call line action at the cumning of the human mind. He plays with all the keen ness, conservativeness and foresthit of a human and one observing him which the movements of his opinions on the board would not hesitate to sar what he thinks Ho winson an average of nine out of everyten games of choss and in sell his play ng career he has lost but four games at checkers.

The special days arranged for in the programme will be crowding one another now quite rapidity. Newspaper day was practically the introduction of the succession of specialities the management has hald out for the musement of the succession of the consument of the succession of the suc SIECIAI DANA

A SAD CASE. A Promising Young Man Bereft of His

Colfux Commons.

Colfux Commons.

On Saturday and John Pick ell, of Palouse City, was brought before the probate judge at Colfax for an examination as to the sound-ness of his mind. It was found that the City, was brought before the probate judge at Collax for an examination as to the soundness of his, mind. It was found that the young man was slightly insare, sufficient to warrant his removal to the asylum at Stellaccom, where he was taken that evening by Sheriff McLean. The un ortunate man, who is a brother of E. R. Pokrell, of Palouse City, is perfectly rational except upon one point. He has an hallucmation that somebody is attempting to poison him, through his meals, and this fear has led him to be constantly changing his bourding place. This diseased imagination is supposed to have been brought at out by his close application to his thaw books, and sedentary habits. He came to thus county about two years ago, and for a while sti died law with Messrs. Suilivan, Chadwick & Brown, of this city. He was admitted to ractice at the past six months this insane idea has been growing on him, and it was it sought best by his friends that he be sent to the axylum, where it is hoped a few weeks of quictness and careful nursing will restore him to his reason.

The Clothes Pin is the finishing touch in washing. A fine piece of linen is hung over the line; the clothes pin is jammeddown to holdit the wind blows and a constant wrenching is going on until the article is taken down. A nole is difficult to see how you are going to go appears where the clothes pin was. It there are things which make more holes than clothes pins; for instance, the rubbing up and down on a board—a necessity when an article is washed with common soap-will rub more holes into fine clothes or coarse, than can ever be charged to clothes pins. There is a way out of this dilemma, Jse ?earline.

You do not have to rub your clothes; sock them, boil them, rinse them and the ob is done. They will be cleaner, sweeter, whiter in haf the time; colors will be brighter, flannels softer, and you have gotten rid of half the labor. PEARLINE costs no more than common soap. Mill-

Linkythe, Or., Sept. 29.

Linkythe is doing with her recent calamity what all the other, burned out lowns of the racific coast are doing; she is rebuilding. Temporary quarters are being fitted up for the coming winter, and in the spring the baraed-out section will be rebuilt in a more substantial manner than before, out of wick

The outlook for a bine after the fire was rather gloomy. Grops were short, cattle low in price and a hard winter seemed to be before us. But people allow are generally tak-ing a more hopeful view of things, and have still faith in the future of the country. Some cattle are being sold, and are on the move to California markets. Several small hands have been sold size to Portland desiers and shipped there vis Ashlend. This is the first have been sold aiso to Portland dealers and shipped there vis Ashlend. This is the first year that any cattle have been driven from Klamath county for Portland.

The weather probabilities for the coming winter is the main topic of conversation howardays. The oldest inhabitant declares that he knows by sinfailible signs that the coming winter will be a severe one, while another equally oldest inhabitant swears that all the indications point to an easy winter. If we have a severe winter many cattle will die, but there is enough hay in the country to save most of them; then when spring opens grass and water will be plentful and dattle will fattes rapidly. If, on the other hand, the winter is an open one the cattle that survive the winter may die next/summer from want of water and feed. The range is almost caten out, water is so scarce that cattle are compelled to travel from eight to fifteen miles for water and then back to the hills for grass, and it looks as if a lard winter is the only thing that will save the country. Rumors are afleat of a large sawnill to becretced on the rapids of Link rver by the Kiamath River Improvement Company in the sprine. Shoold this be done other improvements will follow as a matter of course, and in a lew years one may expect to see a fourishing little manifacturing town on the banks of the Klemath. The object of his visit to this county is approsed to be connected with the abundonment of Fort Klamath, he having inthusted a desire to meet the citizens of the country and learn their reasons for the retention of the fort, when he returns from his pursult of grazly bears and mule-tail deer.

HOQUIAM NEWS NOTES. New Enterprises Fushing the Town to the Front.

Front.

Housian, Wh., Sept. 29.

Forty new houses, including res dence and business, are under contract and to be started at once.

The new hotel on the beach, at the end of Eighth street is now under way with twenty sturdy men pushing its orection.

The sales of real extate have steadily increased with the improvements in streets, factorice, sidewalks and buildings.

After a long spoil of the most beautiful weather ever seen, even by the oldest inhabitants, we are having a few days of rain.

A capitalist from New Mexico named Russell, has purchased the large business block of Charles Kegley on Kighth and I streets; consideration $6000.

The main building of our new sash, door and moulding factory is up and taking on its paint while the side buildings, w.ugs, etc., are covering acres of ground.

A Board of Trade will be organized in this rising city the present week, when come steps will be taken to open up correspondence with the business world by way of all-vertising.

The trains on the Praget Bound & Gray's Marbor railroad, now run almost to Montesano, and with the shortening up of the stage ride, travel has greatly increased and with the increase of travel, comes an increase of boom and business.

or noom and business.

Business is reviving in all the towns on the harbor. Montesano and Abardeen are beginning to have so much business to attend to that they are strongs willing for us to run our own affairs. We will miss their kindly warnings, but will struggle on, withing them as rand success in their magnificent aspirations.

Hogoiam has no jealousy, as she is favorably located, so widely appreciated by business men and capitalists, and has got such a start in a commercial and industrial say, that ale feels like encouraging every town in the coast country. that she feels like encouraging every fown in the coast country; knowing, as all others seem to, that this is by far the safest place to invest in this nart of the country. Judge Holcomb, one of the most progressive business men of the country, having sold out his entire interact here. has gone to South Bend, on the Willapa hurbor, where he and his parinars will enter active, business. This Willapa country is said to be very fine, and as these gentlemen laye capital and propose to build two fine steamers for the barbor treffic, and a rainoad from South Bend to Chebalis, on the Northern Pacific, rapid development may be expected.

The Bate of Pearteen and Two-Tenths Mills Will Provide for Pablic Use $50,853 86.

Salem Statesman.

The total key of 14 2-16 mills on the valuation of $6,317,420 made by the county court of Marion county at the adjourned term of county court held yesterday, will yield $80,707-48, made up of a b-mill levy for county purposes $50,856 86, a levy of 6 mills for school purposes $31,857 14, and a levy of 2-10 of a null $123 48 on behalf of indigent soldiers.

While the levy covering county purposes of next year is $35 mills less than that made to cover the same expense of 1889, it e increase in traduation means a revenue for 1880 of $1655 66 in excess of the amount provided for in 1889. The county apparently needs more money. Then there is a new itom of expense in the levying of the max mum rate allowed by the act of the last legislature in releving indigent Union and Mexican war sol liers, sallors, marines and Indian war volunteers, their indigent widows and minor children and defraying the tuneral expenses of active participants.

A soldier, sallor or marine applying for refer under this act must have served in the folion army sone time befregen April 12, 1861, and April 12, 1861, in the war with Mexico, or not less than tairty days in any of the Indian wars in Oregon, Wastington or idia to territory, or received pern anent disability in such scriptor; received as honorable discharge and resided in this state six months. In case appreciation is made by the widow or others interested the same requirements exist. A 15 county possessing a camp of the Grand Army of the Republic under this act toks for a list of the indigents specified and the distribution of the De inty to the commander or the properly authorized relief committee of the post. The lathful performance of this duty is to be you hed for by bond of not less than $1000 and not more than $1000, to be fixed by the county court will undertake the relief.

SHOALWATER BAY. Fine Region of Country and the Rivers Running Into It. Willaps, Reuth Bend sad a Baw Bailread-Rich Valleys and Prolife Stroams-Energetis People Working for the New State. Hoquiam, Sept. 20.—It is a wonderful country between Portland branch of the Northern Pacific retironal and Puget acound and the Pacific ocean. Ranging from filty to seventy-five miles in width, it is filled with magnificent lorests, navigable rivers, bays, inlets and estuaries, beaver dam meadows, marsh and tide lauds, yielding the finest imbar in the world, great quantities of salmon, cysters, clams, crabs, elk, deer and other game and prec ous-naclus, and affording unsurpassed opport inities for agricultural, lumber, fishing and mining industries. Embraced in this section is the Shoulwater bay security, in Pacific country, and the Gray's barbor region, in Chemains county. North of Gray's harbor is a stretch of country rich in the resources mentioned, but almost entirely undeveloped. formation. For some time geologists have predicted the finding of coal in the Farmington valley, and our people believe the same will soon be an established fact.

The new Congregational church is progressing, and will be a neat and tasty building when finished. Some of the young folks have sent East for plays, and at it is exuceded that home dramatic latent will display itself onto or twice during the winter. The proceeds will be use for the further decoration of the new reburch.

The Whitman hotel is undergoing many changes and has received a new cont of paint, making it present a line uppearance.

The outer walls of the new brick block are about completed, and will soon to one of the best structures in the town.

Last week the citizens met to discuss the plan of building a wigon road to the Saint Mary country. This section is a beautiful series of ralleys lying shous eighteen miles due east of Farmington and altuated in the mountains. Owing to the difficulty in reaching that section of the country few families have located they; but of late quite an immigration has trken place, partially owing its the gold discoveries made there and partially on secount of the quality of the soil. With the usual energy that our people display when are need to seeing the necessity of public improvement, the road will be built and a party has already been sent out to locate it.

General Tanuati has on exhibition in his hardware store ten varieties of potatoes raised in sight of Farmington, some of which; turn the scales at twenty-eight ounces. Many Kastern parties have examined them and expressed themselves astonished that such vegetables could be raised in the Patouse country. Among the collection is a fine basket of peaches and apples raised on one of the highest points in the Vicinity of Farmington by B. J. Murtin.

The instruments for the United States signal station at Farmington are en route and are expected to urrive soon. Property is changing hands very rapidly of late and many new laces are seen on the sweets.

At the mouth of the Willapa is the town of South Bend, where there is a large sawnill of 5000 feet daily capacity. As there are twenty-three feet of water on Shoalwater bay har at the lowest stage of the tide and deeper water all the way in a straight line to the mouth of the Willapa, it will be seen that South Bend is one of these days to be a town of some commercial importance. Can a railroad be built-from the Portland branch of the Northern Pacific to bouth Bend income the Willapa valley and will it pay is a question tow aglitating the people on the east-side of the bay, because the surveyors have just run a line down that way and found it practicable. Rossial has welcomed him with a feding of fellowship, why cannot Signor Liberat lift us a little nearer his level? Everywhere we hear of the aneatured herds in America. Their existence is certainly not due to the lick of artists, nor to the lack of desire on the part of the herds to be entightened. One cause of the will lies in the fact that honest, intelligent ori icism is seldom given to public exhibitions of talent, or what passes for it, and another cause lies in the inability on the part of the artist to appeal to the understanding of his audience.

For the glory of it, for business considerations, for the benefit of mankind generally, some way should be found by which one's audience could be educated to at least a partial comprehensic of one's work. In many instances this can be accomplished with but little expense and trouble, which will be more than doubly repail by the increased interest wakened. North Covo near the entrance to Shoolwater bay is a pleasunt summer resort. It is on the north side of the bay. Near by is a lighthouse and life saying station. All around the cove are protty groves of pine trees, rich looking grass and many neat cottages. One of the nest delightful drives in the country is from North Cove, twelve miles northward to Peterson's Foint, the southern end of the antrance to Gray's harbor. A dozen lively commercial drummers, an advance agent for a colored ministred show and three campaign talkers made up a big slage load niong the broad sandy heach of the Pacific the other morning. While the inscription "Who enters here leaves hope behind" might well be written over the heavy iron door of the outer courtyard, the place is not quite so goomy as institutions of this kind are usually supposed to be. While the associations of fron chains and dark druggons are wont to be inked with the confinement of hardened prisoners, these appurtenments are now only made use of in the pusishment of experienced contains. The vision of the "Prisoner of Chillon" finds are realization in this institution. Important and noticeable improvements have been in all at Oregon's semientary since Superintendent Bowing ins been in charge. The jirst thing that attractive visitor's attention on approaching the prison, is the new steel picket fence, which incloses the courtyard leading to the main entrance. The fence is thirteen and a half feet high, and so constructed with the sale view of secority that no convict need ever hope, to ache it. The upper end of the skeel roads are finished out into starpened spear heads, and, in addition to this another row of rods been inwards with the sharpched points down, acts as a further safeghand against any prisoner's escape. The cafeway is arched, and blears the inscription, "Oregon State Peniter tiary," in git letters. The fence has every appearance of accurrity.

Within the valls of this imposing structure, cleanliness and neatness prevail in every apartnent. When Mr. Downing assumed management he building was badly out of repair. The laster was off in large patches, some of the windows were broken, and many of the cells were repulsive at d unclean. Matters had been in this shape so long that the prevailing order of things came to be recognized as the natural condition of such an institution,

Now everyting is changed. The online interior has been kalsomined, and the woodwork has received a new coat of paint. The cells are west and clean, and many of them are elegantly furnished. A few in particular are furnished in a manner that would compare faporably with many sleeping rooms in good hotels.

The cell, until recently occupied by h man named Lawis, who served a herraiolism years for larrency committed in Matthoomah county, is an initiation at gailery. The stores are turned out each dry. The stores are sent to the firm of Goldsmith & Loewenberg, of this city, who exercise nominal control over the factory. When it is known that the state receives but forty conts at day for the services of each convict, it is easily unders, ood what an advantage it is to have the contract for this labor. All the men work steady. Most of them are excellent and prodictiont workmen, and their services at any other factory would command from $3 to $1 per day. The molding room alone employs righty workmen, using an average of 2200 pounds of metal each day. The liquid ore is run into the molds in one hour and fifteen minutes.

pounds of metal each day. The liquid ore is run into the molds in one hour and fifteen minutes.

This contract will soon expire, and the probability is that in the future the state will contract prison labor to better advantage. The rest of the convicts are employed in different capacities; all have something to do. In conclusion, it may be stated that the seutentiary is a model inclindion for its sind, being supplied with all the latest improvements and conveniences, and managed.

Annual Meeting of the Civil Service Reform League.

THE ADMINISTRATIONS RECOED.

In the Opinion of George William, It Has Boom a Shocking Contract to That of the Demogracy-A Hard Man to Please.

PRILADELPHIA, Oct. L-The annual meetmg of the Nathmal Civil Service Reform League, of which George William Curtis is president, began here this afternoon. After the transaction of routine business the delegates sat down to an informal banquet this evening tendered them by the focal association. George William Cards presided:

evening tendered them by the focal accociation. George William Curtis presided: There was a large audience present.

The following extracts are taken from the annual address of its president. How George William Curtis, of New York. The xpeaker began with a statement as to the explicit pledges of the republican platform in like last national campaign, and the retieration of those pledges by Harrison, to preserve sud extend civil service reform in leafer and spirit. The long address was mearly all devoted to an inquiry as to whether or not those pledges have been fuffilled.

The speaker pointed out that during the first five months of the present administration Assistant Postmaster-General Clarkson had removed 15,000 fourth-class postmastra, or more than one-courth the entire list.

He says: "It will not an ower to say that reform has not been favored by the majority of the people. The only way in which the views of the majority can be known is by the result of the election, and this administration was elected on a platform as distinctly pledged to civil service reform as to the protective tariff. Whether or not it is the wish of the majority, it is certain that the chief executive stands solemnity fledged to it.

the sense executive stands solemnly piedged to it."

The speaker then quotes from the administration newspapers in various parts of the country jeers and words of contempt for reform in the civil service; touches upon the open, adverse declarations or significant attended to the country jeers and conventions, and finds that entitled and the wise, openly spure such reform, and that even in the cabinet there are mannors who decline to give open adherence to it.

It continues as follows: "While this is the public sentiment of the party, as revealed in in all ordinary methods, what is the executive action? Does that conform to the pastions of promise and the president's pledge? The knowledge of every citizen in his own community showers. The dily record of the newspapers for seven months answers. The general political procurption policy which I resident Harrison has employed, and which assunder defined as a frank and bold if brust, method of turning men and swomen out simply for pelitical administry. Fighher show be mader. "The president has selected an admirable effect service commission. Every member of it is a sincere rediever in the necessity and practicality of relorm, and its rigitance and vigor are the best and most earnest of its effective service. He has rolused also to extend the time appointed for including the railway real service within the rules, and he has autimetized the publication of the eligible lists. Besides these few executive acts, the significance of which is destroyed by the general executive course, there is little that shows any effective party regard for the resounding promises of the platform."

The speaker finds, however, that the reform of the civil service is making headway in sentiment among the people. As with all progress worth fightling for, the contest is time table, but advance is sure.

Fatal Quarrel Over, the Celebrated Boat

Fatal Quarrel Over the Celebrated Boas Assyretable
London, Oct I.—The trouble between Sentain J. W. Lawyer and Mr. Block over the ownership of the boat Neversink, in which Lawyer crossed the Atlantic, has culminated in bloodshed. The boat was seized by Black at Cherbourg, France, and taken to Cower, isle of Wight, whither Lawyer proceeded and took possession of her. He brought her to Portsmouth, and there he was accused of stealing the boat. The day the hatfor master and bis assistant attempted to seize the Neversink; when Lawyer drew a pistol and shot noth.

Captain Lawler, on the advice of the American consular agent at Portsmouth to retake the boat with the least force necessary, armed himself with two crowbars and a revolver and proceeded to the Neversink. He climbed over the side of the vessel, and with the crowbar foliced the first of the crew who came toward him. He then opened fire with his revolver and the first buttet struct a saller in the lear. The self-supervised with his revolver and the first butlet struck a sailor in the leg. The sailors overpowered Lawler and he was taken ashore in a police loak. A large number of persons gathered to the landing place, and upon the urrival of Ceptain Lawler made an attempt to lyach him. The crowd was driven back by the colice, and the prisoner was lodged in jail. He was subsequently arraighed and remanded on the charge of attempted murder.

But to one whose scarthly, possessions have long made glad a stranger's some, on whom the eye is allowed to fall only in pity or contempt, and for whom life's grandest blessings have been productive of the most bitter and unavailing remorse—to such an one how doubly dear that love which suffereth long and is kind, which endureth all things, which never failthit! We spoke of many memories of the baltyon days. Again we trout the green lanes, the flower-carpeted and music-ranted woods of hoybood day; again we stood at hay before a violated authority; again our eloquence roused to notion our more sluggish make. We received in particular that we had once considered the difficulty of treating obstruse themes in verse, one ascribing it to the material form, the other to the spirit, of poetry. The heat of the discussion had left its scars, but to-day we were untable to recall which had been his postition and which mine.

Arowhedge of his equal though sympathetic weight of woe.

He was gone. The door closed loudly after him, and I should see his face no more.

"Arthur?" I cried; "Oh, Arthur, light of my life, my bosoin friend, come back to me." But the only answer was the despairing echo of my cry. For his success in life I was truly glad; yet not without bittorness of spirit could I compare his lot with mine. Belind me at the marning of life's race, years have been many and sad since I could hear his chariot wheels or see their distant glow.

pain my sorrows have caused her, or grow impatient uncer her anxious counsels.

Is there any whose life has been so stainless as to yield no pauge of "regret, almost romore, for time long past?" Are there eyes where well no life tears for "the days that are no more?" For the most past, at any take, the man busied with the duties, burdened with the cares, heavy with thosorrows of our daily life, thinks of his child-hood with a sigh. Heremembers that before the years which have now drawn nigh, when he can truly "asy be has no pleasure in them, he knelt at night by his mother's knee and proyed the prayers that children know. How long the years have been! How the cares of the world and the decilibliness of riches have cooked the world! How thick the branbles grow, low rare the perfect wheat!

the brambles grow, how rare the perfect wheat!

But for me such thoughts have ceased their apportunity of good, and it is not without playing the process of life's fair morning time. Inherifung from my mother a disposition singularly pure and sweet, no guile darkened those early days, made gad and fragrant in memory by the hely confidences of mother and child. My mother had not failed to write of these things to me. No doubt she hoped by such remembrances to awaken in my hardened breast repentance in the dying hour. Alas, in such repentance I have no hope. The dying this may have fet at home in paradise, but I have always believed that if a morrow daws a upon the parting aprit, yet this will be essentially the same as in his earfilly life. The coarse, the cruek the false, he fifty, the unholy—let hum be unholy still.

Historian aware of a presence stealing into I become aware of a presence stealing into the room. Ah, then it was that I wished to live! Then it was that the blood surged back upon my heart and darkness hung before my, eyes. As I sat by the robal table, busy with the seems of the past, arouse my neck a soft hand stole, and close pressed against my hardened features a face queenly in its beauty, saint y in its ratiant, o, which, without sight or learing, I could never mistake. The time the saint y in its ratiant, o, which, without sight or learing, I could never mistake. The time has been to be a could be a noble race, not in leafurer form or soul did Helen fail of the highest nobility. Again I burned beneath the riance of those large and lustrous ores, sain I felt wound about my neck those long, long tresses of the deepest night, which had graced my banquet hall in the proudest days of its gay revolvy, which shared my couch in poverty and disgrace, which even my crimes could not estrange.

If I were asked to name one feature of human conduct which rough the warp and woof of heavenly cold through the warp and woof of heavenly with shame and confusion its enemies; awestering the pangs of defeat, cheering and consoling the dying hour of the seedlenned, should answer, there is noth-

They Know Estter Than Any Other People What Economy Means.

North China Herald,

The Chinese are pre-eminently economical, whether it be in limiting the number of wants, in preventing waste, or in adjusting forces in such a manner as to make a little represent a great deal. The aniversal diet consists of rice, beans, millet, garden vegetables and 6th, with a little most on high festivals. Wholesome food in soundence may be supplied at less than a penny al day for each adult, and eyen in famine times thousands of persons have been kept glive for montis on about a haltpenny a day each. This implies the existence of a high deg see of enlinary skill mithe Chinese. Their modes of preparing food are thoroug a and various. There no waste, everything is made to do as much duty as possible. What is left is the voriest trifle. The physic it condition of the Chinese deg or ent, who has to live on the leavings of the family, shows this. They are clearly kept on starvation allowances.

of ordinary alliquits is rather dearer than deed, the meat of antimis which have died of ordinary aliments is rather dearer than that of those which have deed in an epidemic, such as pleuro-moumonia. Another example of careful, calculating economy is the construction of the cooking pots and boilers, the bottons of which are as thin as possible that the contents mry bed all the sconer, for fuel is scarce and lear, and consists generally of mothing but the stalks and roots of the crops, which make a rapid blaze and disappear. The business of gathering fuel is committed to children for one who can do nothing, else can at least pick up striws and theres and dear and continue of the crops of the committed to children for one who can do nothing, else can at least pick up striws and there a vast army of fuel gatherers spread over the land. Concerning which it may be mentioned that, commencing with 1850, when it first found a place for the catalogue of our annual buttlion returns, having been credited that year with a yield of $6000, it has since stendily increased its bullion output which amounted last year to comething over $1.000.000, a large gain on the product of the year before. The entire yield of Alaska amounts to about $3.000.000, all gold. That the buttlens product will go on meressing at a reven more rapid rate than it has bered-fore doine, admits of no doubt; though it should not be forgotten that the exploration and opening up of the mineral districts in the interior of Alaska must ever be aftered at hit great difficulties and heavy expense. Along and near the coast, and on the islands, musing operations has be proceeded.

The annual buittion output of California has for the past ten years been undergoing gradual enlargement. It now amounts to about $18,000,000, and would probably exceed this figure by $10,000,000 at least but for the closing of the hydraulic mines. It is estimated that California is capable of a bullion output of $20,000,000,000 year, which figure it is claimed will be reached when the hydraulic mines are allowed to over a ugain, as they no doubt will be shortly.

Ill. nitton. Perhaps this long wandering in the decept of democracy was unavoidable. Harilton and his party were too far in advance of their time. The nation needed to sprow up to then. It had to become more refired, educate i and composed, and the rice of the greet whiche elass had to be awa ted before a party advocating the principles of Hamilton, and with Abraham Limit colors for such a party were not present in the first half of the present century, and even the gentra of Henry Chy could not result in the treatment of Henry Chy could not create them; and, consequently, when he threw himself, with his devoted followers, against the latter of signorance and prejudice that has away signorance and prejudice that his aways been the chief bulwark of demoracy, it was only to extend defeast to fall attainment of Hamilton's fiscal policy and the carrying out of, his revenue decast to the stainment of Hamiton's fiscal policy and the entrying out of his revenue ideas to a sien id ancess. It looks like poetic justice therefore, that the 190th anniversary of the pir y he founded in possession of the government.

AN ENGLISH ARGUMENT.

AN ENGLISH AEGUMENT.

The London Spectator has an ingenious article designed to altern the Euglish supporters of Mr. (likedspone, and those who tend to have the home rule policy for freinnt.

The pretext for it is found in Mr. Gladstone's recent speech in Paris, in which he proposed the principal American tonst, and speake of the figure of the United States in very criticulastic terms. The Speciator thinks that, while Mr. Gladstone is now surfous to proplitate American opinion, and to efface the memory of his unfriendly speeches during our civil war, he is not advocting doing so, and that his prevent interances are culculated to atlenste his English supporters. It itself proceeds to use the United Sales in a bugblar with which to alsun English home roles.

bugblear with which to salarm English brine volers.

Its method is to emphasize the power of the United States, and the danger of our taking sides with ireland in cose that country should at empt to assers its independence. "American or prison and American strength, astrongth irresistible by any European state if were once full; seried." It says, "constitute two of the many dangers which would result from the concession of home rule." It says established have been succeeded in the says and the same strength in a short time, by a declaration of independence, and that the vote ones passed in Deblin, the independence of freland would writin a week be recognized by the United States These various motives, such as the desire of the independence, and the constitution of the process the prompt recognition of Sauthern belligrency, to repoint consulting the Deblin, the independence of the process the interest of the independence of the constitution of the process the interest of the process the special of the independence of the second of the constitution of the independence of the second of the constitution of the independence of the constitution of the constitution of the second o

Lows was one of the rainbow states. The experiment which Mr. Richman was street in 1852 was trued there in 1883. The results were instructive.

In 1848 Bainte's majority over Cleveland in lows was 19 773. Cleveland had more than 47 per cent. of the total vote. The democrats elected that year four out of the eleven representatives in congress.

In 1888 Orower Cleveland was again a candidate and this time on a platform o fariff reduction, as Mr. Richman understain is that phrase. Harrison a majority over Cleveland was 31,721, again of 12 000 in feur years.
The cleveland vote fell off from 47 17 per cent of the total in 1884 to 44 50 per cent. in 1888 Instead of electing four out of eleven congressmen the democrats electes, only
